Title

The Symphonic Cacophony

Thought or Idea of the concept

The true struggle will never let anyone down if there are no external barriers. So, if we learn and practice more and more (not going for any shortcuts) will give us a good result or outcome. So, learning theory and practicing in real scenarios will fulfill the objectives of long-term survival.

A famous quote,

“Perception without conception is blind; conception without perception is empty” -Kant.
